

Want to know if your lawyer is in trouble? It just got easier in Kentucky

Andrew Wolfson, Louisville Courier Journal Published 6:39 a.m. ET Feb. 23, 2018

Eric Conn

Image not found or type unknown

(Photo: Moises Castillo, AP)

CONNECT TWEET LINKEDIN COMMENT EMAIL MORE

Looking for a lawyer? It is a little easier now to find out how long an attorney has been practicing and if he or she has ever gotten in serious trouble with the bar.

The Kentucky Bar Association this month started putting links to disciplinary orders on its online roster of the state's 18,713 lawyers.

For the first time, the KBA also is listing the year each lawyer was admitted to practice.

The Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure has provided disciplinary records on doctors for at least 15 years, and still offers more information than the KBA, such as professional school, the year of graduation and area of practice.

The Indiana Roll of Attorneys has cited disciplinary case numbers since 2008 and added links to them in 2016, Kathryn Dolan, a spokeswoman for the Indiana Supreme Court.

KBA Executive Director John Meyers said it is continually making upgrades in its website and may add information such as email addresses in the future. He said the KBA decided to put disciplinary records and year of admission on its bar roster so the public can get that information without having to contact staff. READ MORE

Last updated on February 27, 2018.

Print

Table of Contents

NEWS

News & publications

The news about recent activities for needed peoples.

More News

4 Jun 2025

From the Goodwill Insider: Cassandra and Casey of Project Renew

We love it when good news spreads—and recently, Goodwill Insider shined a...

Continue Reading

2 Jun 2025

White House Budget Proposes Elimination of Legal Services Corporation, Stripping Support from Kentucky Families Facing Natural Disasters, Domestic Violence, and More

Prestonsburg, Kentucky—The White House’s proposed federal budget for Fiscal...

Continue Reading