Table of Contents

Legal aid services get $1.2M to help fight substance abuse

August 24, 2021

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's civil legal service programs have received nearly $1.2 million from federal grants to help them respond to the state's drug epidemic, Gov. Andy Beshear said.

Local programs can use the funding from the Bureau of Justice Assistance's Comprehensive Opioid and Stimulant Substance Abuse Program to help those impacted by substance abuse create a pathway to recovery and healing, Beshear and Kentucky Justice and Public Safety Secretary Kerry Harvey said Monday in a statement.

The funding will go to develop, implement or expand comprehensive programs that will reduce the impacts of substance abuse, the statement said. Those receiving funding include the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky, Kentucky Legal Aid, Legal Aid of the Bluegrass and Legal Aid Society.

"If we are going to solve the opioid crisis our communities, law enforcement, government, non-profit agencies and legal service providers must all work together. An important step in achieving that goal is to address the root causes of substance abuse and addiction," Harvey said.

Last updated on September 02, 2021.

Links

AP News

Print

Table of Contents

NEWS

News & publications

The news about recent activities for needed peoples.

More News

23 Oct 2025

A New Home and New Opportunities for Service: Terri's Journey with AppalReD Legal Aid

When Terri Buskey moved to Kentucky two years ago, she knew she wanted to...

Continue Reading about A New Home and New Opportunities for Service: Terri's Journey with AppalReD Legal Aid

21 Oct 2025

Why Boo Shea Still Shows Up for Justice: Even in Retirement

This Celebrating Pro Bono Week, we're celebrating Beverly "Boo"...

Continue Reading about Why Boo Shea Still Shows Up for Justice: Even in Retirement

PDF downloaded from https://www.ardfky.org/node/403/legal-aid-services-get-12m-help-fight-substance-abuse